Food around the World.

1. _____

At the very beginning of human history, people took their food from the world around them. They ate all they could find, and then they moved to another place. Some of them had a lot of cows, or sheep, or horses with them. They used to cook meat on the fire, but it was a very plain food, we wouldn't call it delicious. Then, much later, people learned to farm the land and grow corn and vegetables. They learned to control their environment: they didn't pick up more than they needed, so there was always plenty of food. People mostly did physical work and ate natural, healthy food.

2. _____

The kind of food we eat depends on which part of the world we live in. For example, in the south of China they eat rice because weather conditions are very good for growing rice, but in the north they eat noodles. In Scandinavia, they eat a lot of fish, in Portugal people also like fish, but prefer sardines. In central Europe, away from the sea, people don't eat so much fish, they eat more meat and sausages. In Germany and Poland there are hundreds of different kinds of sausages.

3. _____

In different countries the way people eat is different. In North America, Australia and Europe people usually have two or three courses to every meal: soup, the main course and dessert. People from these parts of the world eat with forks and knives. In China there is only one course, all the food is together on the table, and they eat with chopsticks. Even small children know how to use them. In some parts of India and the Middle East people don't use knives and forks, or chopsticks, they use their fingers and bread to pick up the food.

4. _____

Nowadays it is possible to transport food from one part of the world to the other. We can eat what we like, when we like, at any time of the year. That is why we can see fruit and vegetables of the four seasons at the market and choose what we want! Our bananas come from the Caribbean or Africa; our rice comes from India or the USA; our strawberries come from Chile or Spain. Food is very big business.

5. _____

Food industry makes people eat too much. Lots of fat people in rich countries are a huge problem of our time. How to enjoy food and be fit? Nowadays people do very little exercise, they don't usually do hard physical work, they sit at desks in front of their computers all day long, they don't use up much energy, but still they eat much, because this is their habit. And we all like sweet things. If we want to be healthy, our diet must be balanced: we can eat everything but not much. Meat, fish and vegetables are essential. We shouldn't eat only cakes or chocolate when we are hungry, instead of lunch. Remember, you should eat a few sweet things only after you have eaten the main course!
